

Barrette Holds Meeting With Students Friday

McGill Rowing Team

This canoe represents part of a display of West Coast Indian Culture. The craft is carved and decorated with various clan or tribal symbols. The real version of this scale model was hollowed out of a thick log. The natives travelled many miles out to sea in these boats in quest of whales. The canoe and many more displays can be seen at the Redpath Museum.

Premier Barrette will meet student leaders from eight Quebec universities this Friday, the Daily learned yesterday. Four delegates—as yet unnamed—are expected to represent McGill. Purpose of the meeting will be to ensure no future breakdown of communication between the province and the students.

The meeting, scheduled to take place at 9:30 am, came as a surprise. Organized in conjunction with a request by the Quebec regional NFCUS Committee, the interview with the Premier was originally scheduled for March. But a letter received by the regional NFCUS President indicated Barrette was available Friday.

BRIEF PRESENTED

A brief has been agreed upon by students from the universities of Laval, Montreal, McGill, Sir George Williams, Bishops, Loyola, and Marianopolis. Sherbrooke university students have been sitting in as observers at regional NFCUS meetings and although not NFCUS members, will also meet the Premier.

Four basic points will be covered by the brief:

(1) Thanks the government for its new attitude towards education and in particular for accepting the principle of statutory grants.

(2) A request that the government take measures which will render university education accessible to all those who have the intellectual aptitude and the desire to attend.

(3) A request that the formation of a Royal Commission be set up to study the problems of education in this province.

(4) A recommendation that the clause making a portion of the "aide à la jeunesse" bursary reimbursable be removed.

AGREEMENT ASSURED

Complete agreement on the brief is virtually assured after several meetings between representatives of the various universities. However final touches on the brief will be made on Thursday afternoon and evening. It is estimated that there will be between three and five student representatives from each university and that they will meet the Premier in his private office.

The suggestion of an annual meeting was agreed to by Premier Duplessis at his meeting with the six student presidents last year. It was felt that in this way there would be closer communication between the government and the students on educational matters. Since the Duplessis interview last year several measures affecting legislation have been taken, many of them reflecting the students' suggestions. There has been, for instance, the introduction of a system of statutory grants and a bill increasing the number and amount of bursaries and lowering the reimbursable portion.

DECEMBER REQUEST

The request for this gathering was made last December to the late Premier Sauvé and on his death was renewed to Premier Barrette. In a very courteous letter Premier Barrette expressed his willingness and desire to meet the students cordially. The Friday date had just been fixed to the mutual convenience of both the premier and the students.

The purpose of these meetings from the student point of view is to ensure no further breakdown of communication between the government and the students, to thank the government for any improvements and to show the interest of the students in educational legislation.

HEENAN COMMENTS

Roy Heenan, Chairman of McGill NFCUS committee commented, "As students we appreciate the improvement on education in this province in the last year. There are however, problems still to be solved and we are very pleased with this opportunity given us by Premier Barrette to discuss these with him. This is not a meeting only to criticize but rather to discuss and suggest further legislation and to express appreciation for recent bills—in particular of statutory grants."

SEC Members Morally Obligated To Resign Before Seeking New Posts

by AVIVA KRAVETZ

Members of the SEC representing faculties or schools are morally obligated to resign their positions prior to seeking election to another post on the Council. This is the substance of a motion passed in last Wednesday's meeting of the SEC.

The measure will remove the faculties from the danger of remaining unrepresented on the council for any considerable length of time.

There was also discussion about the action to be taken against organizations in debt to the SEC. It was decided that the Secretary Treasurer should contact these delinquent student clubs, and failing prompt payment, they should be deprived of all Student Society privileges, such as the use of the Union and publicity in the Daily.

GRANTS TO CLUBS

A number of financial matters were under discussion at the meeting. The Players' Club received an increase of $70 on their budget; they were reminded to include as many McGill students as possible in their forthcoming production.

Forge reported that they had completely redesigned their magazine. They had conducted the best advertising campaign in six years, selling about $330 dollars of space. In lieu of these facts, the SEC granted Forge close to a hundred dollars.

MODEL PARLIAMENT

A difficulty arose with reference to this year's Model Parliament. In previous years, the Debating Union had steered, organized, and budgeted for this event. However this year they were under the impression that the Progressive Conservative Club would be responsible. This evidently erroneous impression had also been conveyed to Wilfred Hastings, Secretary-Treasurer of the Students' Society. The council voted that the political clubs involved in the organization of the Model Parliament be responsible for its expenses.

After a report about constitution-nal changes in the Women's Union, Bryce Weir, President of the Student Society, expressed his personal thanks to the members of that organization. He said, "The Women's Union negotiated with us in a very fair and understanding spirit. I hope that the arrangements will be carried out by the present and future councils—that is that the SEC make every attempt to financially aid the Women's Union above their regular allotment."

NFCUS Declares Void IUDL Debate Finals

OTTAWA (CUP) — February 22, 1960 — The contested results of the Inter-university Debating League Debating Finals between McGill and OAC-OVC-MAC were washed out today by a special NFCUS committee and the finals will be held again this Saturday in Ottawa.

OAC protested the debate—held at McGill—on the grounds that three former McGill debaters, one of them a student, and a fourth a McGill faculty member, were judges for the debate.

A committee consisting of A. L. Foote, common law professor at Ottawa University, Fred Cogan past president of the IUDL and André L'Heureux executive secretary of NFCUS made the decision after the problem was thrown in the lap of the National Secretariat.

The debate on the topic, "Resolved that the Canadian Government should take steps to curb the growing power of Labor Unions in Canada," was nullified on the bylaw of the IUDL Constitution which states, "the judges should not be Alumni unless absolutely necessary."

It was felt that the onus was on the host university, to show that it was absolutely necessary. The same topic will be debated Saturday.

The Chessman Game

The dramatic eleventh-hour reprieve of Caryl Chessman by the Governor of the State of California is arousing furious controversy throughout the civilized world. The abolitionists are relieved, the retentionists are infuriated, the Communists are disappointed and the cynics are sneering — and not without justification.

Governor Brown is an honourable and perhaps even a great man, a renowned and ardent foe of capital punishment, and as such he may have been motivated by altruism and compassion in his decision to grant Chessman a 60-day stay from his scheduled appointment with the gas chamber. But whatever was the role played by these factors in persuading Mr. Brown to reach his decision, there can be no doubt that an equal if not greater role was played by the timely arrival of a strongly suggestive letter written to him by the American State Department.

The contents of this letter, which have received world-wide publicity, tend to impugn strongly the sincerity of Governor Brown's actions. The text of the letter suggested that Chessman's case had attained international notoriety and that his execution at this time might generate an unfavourable reaction towards the U.S. on the part of that amorphous substance known as "world public opinion". In view of the fact that President Eisenhower was about to depart on his Latin-American goodwill tour, and bearing in mind the experiences of another high-placed American politician on a recent trip to the same area, it was strongly, indeed almost expressly suggested that Governor Brown grant Chessman a temporary reprieve.

The abolitionists have thus achieved a hollow triumph. Capital punishment has lost in the case of Caryl Chessman, for the time being at least — but was its loss predicated on humanitarian or moral considerations, or was it based simply on considerations of political expediency? No one knows as yet; but doubtless a more accurate surmise will be possible when Governor Brown makes his next decision on the Chessman case sixty days hence.

JUDGES DIFFER

Two teams from each school debated in the finals, McGill winning both debates. The first debate was given to McGill by all three judges, however, one of the judges, a faculty member, gave the winners six points, while another awarded them 55 points. The third judge allowed 19 points.

In the second debate, a student from McGill was one of the judges.

A date for the final debate — always difficult to ascertain — was discussed over the phone by OAC and McGill representatives Feb. 9, and Feb. 13 was chosen, apparently subject to confirmation by letter. The McGill chairman, Peter White, received the confirmation Friday afternoon, although it reached Montreal the previous afternoon.

OAC protested both debates and turned the matter over to IUDL President Al Cameron at OAC, who placed it in the hands of the National Commissioner at Alberta. The IUDL is one of the four debating leagues in Canada which are sponsored by NFCUS.

The National Commissioner is said to have agreed to stand by any decision of Cameron, who in turn handed the matter to the National Secretariat of NFCUS.

McGILL COMMENTS

Commenting to the Daily last night, McGill Debating Union President Ralph Ordower said, "Since it was at our own suggestion that the protest be decided upon by a neutral body, we have no choice but to accept the decision. We feel strongly, however, that the IUDL constitution has

Letters

Time to Remove Bias Against Women

Sir:

Concerning the letter written to the Daily by Cecile Kalifon on Thursday past, I can only add my wholehearted approval. It is perhaps amazing to the average undergraduate that such a bias clause was not previously discovered or amended.

The fact that only male members of the Arts and Science Society may hold the position of President of the aforementioned Society, is in itself not world shaking; the implications are of a more weighty and enveloping nature. This means that due to this ignorance and perhaps a lackadaisical feeling on our part, women are depriving themselves of their representation.

In conclusion, may I admire the promptness and generosity of the Students' Executive Council in instigating an investigatory committee into bias clauses in the undergraduate constitutions.

been badly interpreted and we cannot say that we are satisfied with the outcome.

"We all have the utmost confidence in our debaters Messrs. Cotler, Echenberg, Elkin, and Malcovitch and feel confident that they will bring the championship to McGill where it rightfully belongs."

Case for Atheism Case of Bad Logic

Sir:

A recent contributor to the Daily has summarily stated what would seem, if we are to accept his title, The Case For Atheism. Those who do believe in God, however, need be little disturbed since many others as well have attempted to dismiss God with bad logic and a pen.

Atheism has never been rare. Plato, keenly conscious of it in his day, wrote, "There have always been persons more or less numerous who have had the same disorder." And here is a remark from Psalm XIV which is worthy of some thought: "The fool hath said in his heart, 'There is no God.'"

African Week Opens On Wed. With Exhibition

Two aspects of modern Africa, the discussion of problems facing the development of the continent and the reassessment of its cultural contribution, will be the major themes of Africa Week this year. The official opening of the activities will take place Wednesday Feb. 24, when Dean Frost of the Faculty of Divinity opens the exhibition of African arts and crafts at 1 p.m. in the Club Room. The exhibition will feature wood carvings, leatherwork, ivory sculpture, baskets, and metal work from Angola, Nigeria, Ethiopia, Ghana, the Sudan, and Rhodesia.

PANEL DISCUSSION

The highlight of Africa Week is the panel discussion to be held in the ballroom on Thursday, Feb. 25, at 8 p.m. Dr. Knowles will lead a panel of distinguished guests in a discussion entitled "Economic, Social and Political development in Africa". The panelists are Professor K. Callard of McGill's Department of Economics and Political Science; Mr. D. Dove-Edwin, Educational and Cultural Attache, Nigerian Liaison Office in Washington; Mr. J. Kroanteng, Deputy Educational and Cultural Attache, Ghana Embassy, Washington, the Deputy High Commissioner of the Union of South Africa in Ottawa; and Mr. R. McSamples, D.S.O., Director of Information Services for the United Kingdom Government in Ottawa.

AFRICAN DINNER

The week continues on Friday Feb. 26, with a film show at 7 p.m. featuring movies from Ghana, Nigeria, Ethiopia, and the Sudan. The last day of Africa Week, Saturday Feb. 27, will be a festive day. The festivities will start with an African dinner at 6 p.m. at which the Ghanians, Nigerians, and Ethiopians will appear in their national costumes. The menu will feature a West African soup, a Nigerian main dish, African tropical fruit, Ghanaian dessert and Ethiopian coffee. After the dinner, the orchestra of Elton Phillips will entertain the guests to continuous dancing music in the ballroom. During intermissions, African songs and dances will be presented.

Panel Discussion Opens Experimentals Program

As in past years, the McGill Players' Club will feature a panel discussion after opening night of Experimentals '60 Wednesday, February 24.

Mme Jeannine Beaubien, Pat Pearce, Mac Shoub, and Guy Beaulne will discuss the merits of the plays, the interpretations of the directors, and the performances of the individual actors and actresses.

Pat Pearce is now reviewing movies and television for the Montreal Star. Previously, she was theatre critic for the Herald for ten years.

Mme Beaubien, producer of La Poudrière, the theatre on St. Helen's Island, has offered productions in French, English and German. Just before Christmas, La Poudrière presented "Hansel and Gretel", in all three languages. At present Mme Beaubien is mounting a production of "Crime and Punishment" by Dostoyevsky.

Mac Shoub is the producer of "Shoestring Theatre", the only regular dramatic presentation in English which originates live from the Montreal CBC studios.

Guy Beaulne is an actor, director and CBC-TV producer. He has worked with Crawley Films, and the National Film Board. At present, he is a governor of the Dominion Drama Festival and is on the executive of the Canadian Guild of Drama Adjudicators.

CARNABELLES COME THROUGH

We actually sat beaming at our Carnival Skating Line Friday night. The two soloists, the quartet, and the chorus line came through in fine style, performing with an air of confidence that had been wanting in the past years. Barbara Jessop, a fourth year Science student, turned in a flawless routine, skating with precision to the waltz music.

Andrea Hill, who did the choreography for the line, should be commended for the outstanding job. The Carnabelles proved one thing — "practice makes perfect".

SHOOTING SPORTS

The Intramural Rifle Tournament enters its last lap this Thursday, at 7:30 p.m. in the Rifle Range of the Currie gym. Teams must consist of three women, representing a faculty, fraternity or residence. Each woman must shoot two targets in prone position. Ammunition is free.

The Archery Club will conclude its tournament this week, with targets up on Wednesday, 1-3 p.m. and Thursday, 2-4 p.m. The Silver Arrow will be up for competition.

A Ski Day is planned for this Saturday at Mont Sauvage in the Laurentians. All those interested in participating in the "fun day" are asked to sign up in the Physical Education Office in Royal Victoria College immediately. Cost for the trip which includes bus fare and taxis is only $5.00.

SKIING MEET CALLED

The Women's Skiing Team spend Friday in the Laurentians, but poor conditions made them curtail their activity. They had been scheduled to participate in a giant slalom at St. Sauveur and another slalom event at Mont Habitant, against teams from Middlebury, Queen's and Vermont. As a result of the snow storm Marian MacDougall, Gael Eakin, Claudia Bierman and Nora Altimas were forced, along with the other colleges, to gaze at the hills, rather than graze them.

For those students, not participating competitively there is the WAA Ski House in St. Adèle en Haut. Situated in the heart of the Laurentians, it provides enthusiastic skiers with excellent accommodations. The House accommodates approximately ten girls and three are permitted to bring sleeping bags. The rates are 50 cents per any part of the day and 50 cents per any part of the night.

CHEERLEADERETTES CLICK

The Daily Cheerleaderettes cried, cheered and clamoured, till the Daily staffers had overrun the SEC by a 22-0 tally. Elizabeth Duquet penned the lyrics for the spurious songs which were imprinted in the pretty heads of the fair maidens. Many thanks are due to Mary Biedermann, Barbara Jessop, Claudia Hulme, Peggy Maclean, Ann Wilson, Bertha Kalifon, Roz Saginur, Norma Phillips, Elizabeth Duquet, and Ann Weldon. Contrary to what was published in the Daily yesterday yours truly did not perform a cartwheel, simply because it was too slippery.

... John Duckworth arranged the Daily-SEC tilt and deserves some praise ... Alan Ross and Duckworth were the unbiased refs on the field ... RVC Pool Hours are posted on several notice boards. Since the Daily is unable to carry a schedule of the hours, those interested are advised to check the notice boards ... Cheerleaderettes have gained permission to cheer at the home hockey games, for a one year trial period ... The Modern Dance Concert will be held this Thursday at 8:40 p.m. in Moyse Hall. Miss Thelma Wagner, Assistant Professor of Physical Education is director ... Brand Duder has been elected President of the Hockey Club ... Ann Hislop is the new Rifle Club president ...

WAA Posts For Election

by LENNIFER JUCEBECK

The Women's Athletic Association has announced that the position of President will be contested in the election to be held on March 4. Nominations must be signed by at least twenty-five regular women undergraduates and submitted to the Women's Union Office by this Thursday at 2 p.m. The candidate must be in her third year.

Nominations are also being called for the positions of Secretary and Treasurer on the WAA Executive Committee. Candidates should be in their second year, although present first year students are not restricted according to the constitution. Candidates for the position of Chairman of the Recreational Activities Council must be in their third year while Representative to the Women's Athletic Board must be in second or third year.

Except for the President, all other posts will be filled by an election at the WAA Open Meeting on March 7. Nominations will also be called from the floor.

Several other positions remain to be filled before the term is over. Two publicity chairmen, one for the Athletic Council and the other for the Recreational Activities Council will be elected at the Open Meeting.

Redmen In MBL Action

The McGill Redmen basketball team takes to the floor tonight and their able opponents are the Sir George William's crew. The game will take place at the Currie gym at 8 p.m. This is the last match of the season for the Redmen who have not enjoyed too successful a year. The Georgians on the other hand, have already clinched the City championship.

McGill Juniors Tie 'Y'; May Finish in Second

by SEA-SEAL CALIPOND

McGill Juniors remained in contention for first division in the Women's Open Basketball League by holding the "Y" to a 21-21 tie. Macdonald College is in top spot in the nine team league, followed closely by the "Y". Sir George Williams and McGill. One game remains to be played a Sir George-Macdonald encounter.

McGill jumped off to an early 10-6 lead, but the "Y" retaliated and forced an 11-11 deadlock at half-time. In the third quarter, the "Red and White" again pulled away 19-14, but the "Y" closed in, scoring the equalizer with minutes to go.

Mary Biedermann, turning in two outstanding games in a row, accounted for seven McGill points. Stephanie Stevenson and Liz Bertram scored 6 and 5 markers respectively.

The best effort of the evening on the part of the "Y" was contributed by Diane Ross who hit the score-sheet seven times.

In other Women's Open Basketball League action, Marguerite Bourgeys College downed Macdonald College 31-11, in an upset. Macdonald had remained undefeated until their encounter with MBC. Marie Roy scored 12 points. Marguerite Bourgeys continued on their winning ways by edging Sir George Williams 39-35. Marie Roy again came through with an outstanding game by scoring 13 points. Sir George's Marg Johnson tallied a phenomenal 19 markers, 17 coming in the first half.

In a stalemate, Marianopolis and Northmount "Y" played to a 23-23 count. Yolanda Sabetta, a stalwart throughout the year for Marianopolis, led the Collegians with 13 points, while Marlene Sullivan accounted for 8. Northmount's Betty Miller led her team with 7 counters. Marianopolis met Montreal East "Y" and after the final whistle had been blown, Marianopolis had won another one, this time by a 17-15 count. Yolanda Sabetta was a thorn in the "Y"'s side, accounting for 7 points, while Marlene Sullivan followed with 4. Maya Romer turned in a solid game on defense.
